

LABEL SUIT WON'T STOP HIS FIGHT SAYS GOVERNOR

Fine Tribute Paid Him At Old Home Town By One Of Largest Crowds Ever At A Jerome Political Rally

Any doubt of the popularity of Gov. Thomas E. Campbell in the places in which he is best known has been thoroughly dispelled by the wonderful reception given him at every place visited within Yavapai, the county of his birth, concluding with the great welcome accorded him Thursday night in Jerome, where he worked for so many years in the mines and elsewhere about the district.

In his address before one of the largest audiences ever assembled at a Jerome political rally, Governor Campbell paid tribute to the strong evidence of friendship and confidence extended him in the score or more of Yavapai county towns and cities visited the past three or four days, and declared that he would go forth from dear old Yavapai heartened anew for his struggle against special privileges as exemplified in the attempt to the cattle interests to control, not only the state lands, but the very government of the state itself.

"The federal government gave 35 acres to every man, woman and child in the state, collectively, when Arizona became a state. But have you received your share? Hardly, for the great majority of this ten and one-half million acres is now owned or controlled by a comparatively few, and this vast grant given us for educational purposes is bringing the state but $200,000 per annum. Far less than Arizona is spending this year on vocational education alone. Why? Because the present and past administrations of these state lands have locked up this great gift practically in perpetuity to a few big cattle outfits. This same cattle oligarchy not only controlled the past legislature, dictating legislation, but having lasting power, now seeks to control the state administration, from the governor down.

"And that is the big issue in this campaign; whether entrenched private interests or you, the people, shall control. My opponent stands squarely for a continuance of the present administration of the land department, and I am opposing it. I stand for a readjustment and reappraisal of these state lands and their sale or lease at what the lands are worth, whether that be one cent or one dollar per acre.

"I shall go on with the fight, despite threats against my life; despite libel suits, and with reference to that, I thought anyone could get $30,000 from me by getting a judgment against me, I'd plead guilty and then split it with him, and have more money than I ever had before at any one time."

Speaking of his opponent's declaration that the governor couldn't dam the Colorado river with his big white hat because it wasn't big enough, the governor brought forth a storm of cheers and laughter when he said: "It isn't a question of the hat, but what is under the hat that will count in the development of Arizona as a great commonwealth."

Governor Campbell left yesterday morning for Wickenburg, where he held a meeting last night, returning to Phoenix today for the transaction of official business.

"HI-Y" COURSE THIS SEASON TO BE BEST EVER BROUGHT HERE

The management of the "Hi-Y" lecture course for this year announced yesterday that this season's course is composed of what are believed to be the best numbers ever presented here. The selection of this course was left to a committee of seven selected from the Y. M. C. A. and the Phoenix Union High school, and the committee, after a great deal of investigation, has arranged the course, which is believed the most expensive and best yet brought to Phoenix.

The numbers already decided upon are Charles Wakefield Cadman, New York Chamber Music company, Amphion Light Opera company, Dunbar Male Quartet and Bell Ringers, J. Ham Lewis, Jennette Kling, and Newell Dwight Hillis.

The dates for the appearance of each number will be announced in the next few days and tickets will be on sale either at the Y. M. C. A. office or from high school students.

It is the aim of the management of the "Hi-Y" course to bring to the city each year high grade educational programs. The entire course is carried on with this idea in view, for no financial gain will be made by either the Y. M. C. A. or the high school, and as the course is brought here purely for educational purposes, with no profit to anyone, there will be no war tax to pay. In this way the public is able to obtain real high grade entertainment at a low price.

EXPECT CONTEST ON STAGE APPLICATION

The application of the Warren-Lowell Stage company to operate a bus line will be bitterly contested when the matter comes up for hearing before David F. Johnson, member of the corporation commission, at Elisee on Friday. Not only will the street railway company oppose the commission granting a certificate of convenience and necessity to the stage company, but the city will offer objections. It is held that the street railway furnishes excellent service and that its revenue will be materially cut if it has competition.

While in Cochise county Commissioner Johnson will sit in a hearing at Tombstone relative to the establishment of an electric light plant at that place.

$1700 REWARD FOR SLAYER OF SCHWAB

According to a report received at the sheriff's office, a total reward of $1700 has been offered for the arrest and conviction of the person or persons who murdered Martin Schwab, near Lagstaff about April 15, 1920. An additional reward of $500 has been offered for the recovery of the Chandler automobile owned by Schwab and which he was driving when he was murdered.

The following description of the car is given: Chandler, 1920 model, 7-passenger, painted midnight blue, with black hood and fenders; rear fender and tire rack badly bent; motor No. 77,552; serial No. 83,277; magneto No. 2,347,955; body No. 9920; generator No. 14,908; starter No. 12,351; transmission No. 17,843. When stolen had three Goodrich fibre tires, two plain, one non-skid; and two United States Royal cord tires on rear wheels. Had Weston ammeter, Utah license No. 21,420. The car is thought to have been driven to Phoenix following the murder of Schwab.

FAIR BOXES ARE SOLD OUT IN RECORD TIME

Approximately $5900 was taken in by the state fair commission yesterday, representing the advance sale of box tickets for fair week, Nov. 8 to 13. The entire listing of 164 boxes was sold out in an hour and 45 minutes, thus establishing a new record in the matter of box sales, for on former occasions it has sometimes taken many days in which to dispose of these choice seats. The boxes were priced this year at $30, $40 and $50, according to location, and the selections were made in the order of filing applications with the secretary.

Shirley Christy, secretary of the commission, was well pleased with the outcome of the sale. "There was never a greater demand for fair tickets," he said, "and everyone seemed well satisfied with the new arrangement of allocating alternate rows of boxes to patrons of Maricopa county and to patrons outside the county. The sale gives pleasing assurance that the attendance at the coming fair will exceed that of all former occasions."

Chicago robbers stole a whole train. Police are on the track.

LET THE PEOPLE KNOW THAT PHOENIX IS 50 YEARS OLD ON OCT. 20

"You tell 'em" that Phoenix is to have a birthday Oct. 20, next Wednesday. According to the records, it was on October 20, 1870, that the few settlers who, with Jack Swilling, had built a brush and stone dam across the Salt river a little south of the present site of Tempe, and dug a canal, known then as the Swilling ditch and at the present time as the Salt canal, felt they should begin the foundation of a town in keeping with the possibilities of the Salt River valley.

At this memorable meeting it was decided to establish the new town on its present site, and accordingly plans were formulated for the survey of a townsite. Although actual work did not begin until early in the following year, this meeting on the 20th of October fifty years ago may be said to be the real beginning of the city of Phoenix.

On this date it is only natural that citizens of Phoenix and the Salt River valley should take a little pride in a review of the things that have been accomplished in this half century of progress in Phoenix and the Salt River valley. This is a most excellent opportunity to tell the friends in other parts of the country what a wonderful country we have here.

A book has been published by the Phoenix Chamber of Commerce which describes the city and valley today. It is appropriately called "Phoenix, Salt River Valley and Arizona Today." By special arrangement with the advertising committee these books, with an attractive envelope for mailing, and the requisite postage, can be sold five copies for $1. No more fitting token of the patriotic feeling which every good citizen has for his city can be had for this occasion, and all citizens who take a pride in the city of Phoenix are urged to send some of these books to friends in other states.

During this year the United States is importing 42 per cent more coffee than last year.
